Good Day Aryaking,

Thank you for the update. We have all the information that we need for now and will reach out IF we decide to move forward with integration.

We will continue to monitor the trading activity/volume over a period of time to determine whether this can be organically sustained or was the result of artificial inducement. This is also one of the reasons why we do not specify any thresholds and assessment intervals, as that would make it easy to 'game' the system.

- For trading volumes, there is no specific threshold that we are able to disclose publicly, as we benchmark our assessment against market conditions and other applications.
- As a general rule of thumb (this is by no means a guarantee), 3-figure USD volumes and below are harder to justify.

We prefer to see a sustained and organic increase in trading volume/activity across at least one CMC-supported exchange before we can perform a proper evaluation.

Please note that these are just the minimum requirements, and meeting them does not guarantee a listing.

Best Practices/Guidelines

- You may send us additional information about your progress (via this thread) to keep us updated, especially if you have made some noteworthy progress.
- However, please do not submit duplicate requests as it will add to the request queue and slow down the process.

For more information regarding the listing process, please see: <https://coinmarketcap.com/methodology/#listings-criteria>

Sincerely,
CoinMarketCap
